Headteacher's Message

On Monday, Mrs Hodgson launched anti-bullying week with a special worship. It was great to see so many children in odd socks to mark the event.

Some of the school governors came to an 'Ethos and Distinctiveness' committee meeting earlier this week. They shared a card sent from Buckingham Palace, which arrived just before the Queen passed away. The churchwardens had sent information and pictures of the hobby horses that were made to mark the Queen's Platinum Jubilee in June. A picture of it is below.

Finally, don't forget we're holding the Fairtrade stall in the main entrance tonight after school. There will be a range of items that can be bought. Please do come along if you can.

Have a good weekend.

Best wishes,

Mr Ian P. Ashmore

Reflection Time

'Let all that you do be done in love.'

1 Corinthians 16:14

This week in our worship, we talked about anti-bullying week. Mrs Hodgson led us in a special worship. The children about what bullying is. The children then talked about why it was important to be kind. For example, it helps them to be kind too, it can help people to concentrate as good chemicals in the brain are released and kindness helps people feel that they belong. The children thought about being a ripple of kindness at Cop Lane.

This week in our Picture News, we looked at the news that pupils in schools should not unfairly be singled out for having afro hair, the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC) has said in new guidelines for schools. The EHRC reported that rules banning certain styles are likely to be breaking the law. This includes styles such as afros, braids, cornrows, plaits, locks and head coverings. The new guidance was announced to help schools in England, Scotland and Wales ensure their hair policies are fair. The children considered the question, 'Should we ever have to change our appearance?' Our 'Picture News at Home' can be found on the last page of this newsletter.
