Spirituality within Music at Cop Lane C.E. Primary School

Music at Cop Lane C.E. Primary School aims to inspire and captivate a love for music and an education that fulfils a deep level of spirituality.

Spirituality is developed through music as our children engage in creative expression and emotional connection. Through musical exploration children have the opportunity to tap into their inner selves, expressing feelings, aspirations and a sense of wonder. Music lessons and extra-curricular opportunities such as Young Voices are a vehicle to express, compose and reflect. Whether through singing, playing instruments or listening to diverse musical genres our children develop a unique avenue for self-discovery and emotional intelligence. Music fosters a communal spirit as our children collaborate with each other or share their musical talents, instilling a sense of unity.

We provide rich opportunity for our children to develop spirituality within our curriculum

- By allowing pupils to show their delight and curiosity in creating their own sounds.
- By considering how music makes us feel and can 'move us' deeply.
- By understanding the way artists communicate their feelings through their music.

Additionally, the intrinsic beauty of melody, harmony and rhythm often evokes a sense of transcendence and awe, contributing to the spiritual dimensions of our children's education. Therefore, music education at Cop Lane C.E. primary School nurtures creativity, emotional well-being and a profound understanding of human experience.
