Reflection Time

'The Earth is the Lord's, and everything in it, the world, and all who live in it.'

Psalm 24:1

This week in worship, we looked at protecting our planet. The world was created by God for human beings to enjoy and take care of. Taking responsibility for planet Earth can seem like a huge job. However, we can play our part by doing little things that add up to changing the world together. Even small things like walking for short journeys rather than taking the car can help, if we all made the change.

This week in our Picture News, we looked at the news that scientists in Australia have discovered that human beings lived in high mountain caves nearly 20,000 years ago. They found tools, burnt wood, and other artefacts deep inside the caves of Australia's Blue Mountains, showing that people once cooked and lived there. The discovery is one of the earliest records of people living within this mountain range. The caves were likely a safe and useful place to shelter during cold winters in the mountains. The children considered the question: "What makes somewhere a good place to live?"

What makes somewhere a good place to live?

Things to talk about at home ...

- > Why do you think people chose to live in mountain caves? Share your response with someone at home. Do you think it's important to learn about the homes of people from the past?
- > Considering where you live, what are the things you need to live a comfortable life in your home? Have these things changed over time?
